Brity's Mother (Cardiff)—Really good baby carriage,—Many thanks for your appreciative letter; I am so glad to hear of the improvement in "Betty," following on the advice given here. Such things are far more often a matter of habit than is realised, and a great deal can be done by commonsense, wisely and consistently followed. ## TRAINING FOR TEACHERS ON MONTESSORI PRINCIPLES.

PRINCIPLES.

A NEW TRAINING COLLEGE for teachers of voung children will be opened in September in one of the large houses in Kingswood-road, Gipsy-hill, with a hostel and demonstration school in the Avenue. The college is recognised by the Board of Education, and will accept resident and day students for whom the Government grant will be paid, as well as private students who intend to take up secondary school work or become governesses.

The two years' course will provide a thorough training in the principles and practice of education advocated by Dr Montessori, and will also include instruction in biology, literature, handcrafts, gardening, eurhythmics, and other subjects.

Montessori, and will also include instruction in biology, itterature, handcrafts, gardening, eurhythmics, and other subjects.

Dr Maria Montessori's principles have already influenced enormously the education of young children in the United States as well as in this country, and in the opinion of many of our foremost educationalists they are destined to revolutionise not only education, but life and conduct too. The children in a Montessori school, who range in age from three to seven or cight years old, are trained to develop their own powers in an atmosphere of freedom, the only limits to which are the well being, happiness, and comfort of others.

The child is a member of a community, with his own responsibility, rights, and obligations, in which he never fails to take a pride and delight. His rapidly growing powers are used continually in the service of others, or and less expect than himself. Each child works the material invented by Dr Montessori at his own pace, and is free to rest or change his occupation when he wishes, so no sign of strain or overwork is ever seen. The tiniest children learn very quickly to button, tie, and lace, to set a table and clear it, as well as to dust their school room and attend punctually and carefully to their pets. In so doing they learn the right relationship to their work, truth, honesty, and accuracy in doing it; the right relation, discipline, and obedience to law.

The substitution of the spirit of co-operation for that of competition in the life of the school spontaneously generates the most delightful atmosphere of sympathy and brotherhood which is full of promise for the future, and lays a firm foundation for those qualities of good citizenship which, now more earnestly than ever, we desire to see in the sons and daughters of our Empire.

The mental progess of the children brought under the influence of Montessori training is as striking as their splendid moral and physical development, and it is not uncommon to find these children passing straight into standard 2 standard 2, or even summars of the Gipsy-hill college have been fortunate in securing as principal Miss Lillian de Lissa, who has been training Montessori teachers in Adelaide, South Australia, with very great success. She is at present in America studying under Dr Montessori the latest developments of her method. All enquiries should be addressed to Miss Rennie, Sway, Hampshire.

Special appeal: How urgent is the need of the British Prisoners in Germany is, slas! so much a commonplace that there is no need to elaborate it. But surely the fact that starvation faces them save when adequate food parcels arrive regularly from home should make everyone feel it a duty to do some small share at any rate in supplying the demand. Any donations, no matter how small, will be much welcomed, and should be sent to Miss C. Knowles, as above.
